

FCB's contribution to the Special Report on Investment in Africa 2018

FCB Sociedade de Advogados, through our partner João Robles and our associate lawyer António Cid, has contributed to the Special Report on Investment in Africa 2018, from African Law and Business and Hogan Lovells.

João Robles, responsible for FCB's Angola Desk, has contributed with the country chapter for Angola, discussing the new private investment and competition laws which have recently come into force in that country. The Angola chapter can be read here.

António Cid, in partnership with Sérgio Wahnnon Veiga Monteiro from OLVM Advogados, has written the country chapter for Cape Verde, elaborating on Cape Verde's plans to legislate in order to facilitate foreign investment. The Cape Verde chapter can be read here.

The Special Report on Investment in Africa 2018 “gathers information from 29 countries to help inform clients' investment decisions, summarising the key features of the legal and regulatory framework for businesses in Africa, and reflects the range of sectors in which African business is growing, alongside insight into the overarching issues investors face in doing business in the continent”.
